Moving Our Relationship With the Saviour...

Dan of Religious Instruction T Address Thursday Assembly

Dean B. West Belpap of the College of Religious Instruction, will address the student body tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. in the Y Center.

Dean B. West Belpap

Ballroom, on the subject of "Improving Our Relationships With The Savior."

Dean Belpap was born in Ogden, Utah. He completed a mission in the Southern States Mission from Dec. 1941 to Feb. 1944.

In 1946 he received his B. S. Degree from B.Y.U. in education. M.A. degree in Philosophy from Columbia University in 1950, and Ed. D. Degree in Religious Education from Columbia in 1951.

Dean Belpap was Acting Dean of Students at the Y 1961-62 and has been Dean of the College of Religious Instruction since 1962. He has served in numerous positions of both administrative and teaching capacities in the Church. Dean and Mrs. Belpap and their family, Darlene, Howard, Bonnie, Beverly, Christine and Barbara have just returned from Canada where Dean Belpap was guest lecturer at Calgary and Lethbridge for Education Week.

Dean Belpap is currently a member of the All Church Co-ordinating Council.

Discretion Proper Togs Assure Successful Hike

Proper equipment and a little discretion can mean the difference between a pleasant and rewarding hike and discomfort and injury. The annual Timpanogos Hike is on Sunday.

Following do's and don'ts are listed by hike officials as suggestions likely to increase the hiker's appreciation of the mountain event.

1. Wear a sturdy pair of shoes with good heels. Many inexperienced hikers feel that a light pair of canvas shoes make for easier climbing; however, this is definitely not true. Ankles need support and feet need added protection on mountain climbing.

2. Make a light jacket, one you can carry easily. It may be cold at the top.

3. Wear a hat of some kind. The sun can blister the face and dry out the skin.

4. Sun glasses are optional, but they do not hurt.

5. Do not turn down sun glare and tend to enhance the beauty of the view.

6. Do not race up the mountain.

7. Take it easy. Rest periodically.

8. Don't make the mistake of eating and hiking at the same time. The stomach is easily upset when having to digest food while the body is involved in vigorous physical activity. Take a lunch and eat it at the summit or at Emerald Lake.

9. Drink no more water than is absolutely necessary. A salt tablet is sometimes the best thirst quencher.

10. Don't break trail, as you will dislodge rocks which might roll down the mountain and strike hikers below you. This is the only real danger on the hike.

11. Don't pick flowers. Much natural beauty can be ruined by 3000 thoughtless hikers.

12. No motor scooters, please!

13. Do not hike at night. It is dangerous. The hike starts at 8 a.m., but if you are not an early bird try to get on the trail before sun up. Summit badges will be awarded to those who reach the top only until 2:30 p.m.

President Emil Capik and Sidney Green set the example what to wear on the Timpanogos Hike for Derrell Smith and Rosann Linford and bear.

The last of the old Wymount Village buildings at Brigham Young University are being taken down. The units once held 350 single students and 200 married veterans and their families. The parking lot across from the Y Center will be expanded to park 1,272 cars.

Barry is Champ For Rep. Party

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 — Barry Morris Goldwater, the champion of a new American conservatism, was nominated for president Wednesday night by the 26th Republican National Convention.

The only serious challenger was Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who appeared on the platform at the conclusion of the ballot to move for the unanimous nomination of Goldwater.

Before that went through with a roar from the delegates on the floor the first ballot was:

Goldwater	883
Seranton	214
Rockefeller	114

Goldwater did not appear at the convention Wednesday night. He will accept the nomination Thursday, after his choice for the vice presidency, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, is duly nominated.

There was never any contest Wednesday night, from the moment Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen concluded his nominating speech for Goldwater and set off a wild demonstration that thundered through the Cow Palace for 20 minutes.

REGISTRATION

Registration for second term may be completed by going to Room A-155 of the Snook Ridge. Monday July 20, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Bill Sampson of the Registration office.

Did You Know?

With the addition of the two new Centers on campus and excluding the J. Reuben Clark Library that the floor space at BYU has been doubled.

17 Years of Usefulness Comes to an End... Last of Wymount Village Gives Way to Progress

An era ends at Brigham Young University this month as the last three of the old barracks-type, two-story buildings once known as Wymount Village come down. For 17 years the area housed single and married students in a war surplus village. Now the cleared land will be added to the north end of the parking lot across the boulevard from the Y Center. The parking lot was constructed last year when 12 of the buildings were dismantled to make way for it.

The first phase of the project accommodates 1,032 cars and with the new space will hold 1,272. The parking lot will serve both the Y Center and the new Franklin S. Harris Fine Arts Center.

Wymount originally included seven dormitory buildings housing 350 single veterans and 20 apartment buildings housing the families of 200 veterans. All but the present three buildings were removed for permanent buildings and the parking lot.

The last three village buildings served as a television studio, temporary office building and storage for scenery and drama props. They began to be razed when the Fine Arts Center neared completion and the office and studios were moved into it.

The village was moved to BYU from Hill Field in 1946 and has provided housing for thousands of students and children during the rush of the enrollment following World War II.

Need for the outmoded frame structures has since been eliminated by the construction of several housing projects on the BYU campus including the new seven-story residence halls which are being completed this summer.

Construction Sounds on And off BYU Campus

Two new laboratories are under construction at BYU, it was announced today by Dr. Earl C. Crockett, acting president.

A Biology Building located at 30th E. and 800 N. Streets and the first phase of a Lakeside Biological Laboratory on the south bank near the mouth of the Provo River are scheduled for completion prior to fall semester.

The Biology Building will house five laboratories for lower division students, including three for zoology and two for botany. It will also house two faculty offices and two stock rooms.

The building will have a brick exterior and low pitched gabled roof and will measure 72 by 92 feet. Completion date is Sept. 15, 1964.

An A-frame type construction will house a boat owned by the school and the first phase of the Lakeside Biological Lab.

The building will measure 17 by 33 feet and is located on approximately four acres of land the University has leased from Provo City. The project will eventually include a laboratory and a caretakers apartment.

It will be used to teach field study techniques and to do research for the improvement and development of Utah Lake.

A War on Litter to be Waged by Everyone

We are peace-loving by nature but there is one kind of war we heartily endorse—unrestricted war on littering.

That is because litterbugs are loose on BYU Campus now that lovely warm weather has arrived. These people, who exhibit no consideration whatever for others, are strewn lawns, and buildings with the droppings from their snacks.

Litterbugs are not only a nuisance, they are causing heavy drains on the employees of the Physical Plant who could be spending their time at more profitable pastimes than cleaning up after thoughtless students.

It is nice to sit in the shade and eat that lunch while you study for next hour's class but it would not be wasted effort to deposit your gum wrapper, sandwich bag, milk carton and ice cream wrapper in the nearest depository when you are finished either.

Of course the University will see that it is cleaned up if we don't but after 120 hours or so they won't be around to look after it. The only sure way to end, or at least confine the litter-plague is for every snack eating student to become a self appointed guardian of BYU's beautiful soil satisfying grounds and buildings, and stick closely to the rules of conduct by placing discards of any nature in the proper receptacles.

Publicity Chairmanship Now Open for New Applicants

Garry Crowell, publicity chairman for this session of Summer School will not be here next session according to Garry Anderson, vice president of Student Relations. "He has done an excellent job," says Garry, "and we wish to congratulate him."

For second session of Summer School another central publicity chairman is needed. This will be a challenge and opportunity for some industrious person.

If you would like to live up your summer and make application for this position, call Mr. Anderson at Ext. 3072. He would be glad to give you further details about this position.

Choose Your Travel Wardrobe Wisely

Students Invited To Celebrate At Finals Fling On Friday

Americans are fond of travel, and one of us are always on the go. Even now many of you are preparing to leave the campus to visit various parts of the United States.

It's own right, there is nothing like a trip to put you in the mood. It's easy to go places these days. You can go as far or near as you like.

Regardless of today's tempo, the destination or your reason for traveling—it's the natural desire to look attractive in various circumstances, in places appropriate for the place and the occasion.

Preparing your wardrobe for a trip, it is important to consider:

PLANNING . . . For the way you will travel; the climate and where you are going; and what you need when there.

PACKING . . . How to analyze the present wardrobe in terms of travel usefulness, and to select the right additions for your trip.

PACKING . . . Without waste, effort, or excess.

While you are vacationing you do not lead the everyday life of an average citizen. You will be in the high spots in entertainment, sampling famous restaurants and visiting exciting places.

The right clothes will help you tremendously in feeling at ease in any situation. There are special rules for travel clothes.

It is important that a small selection of clothes blend together and work together to be adaptable in any weather.

The accessories you take—hats, bags, gloves, hat—should blend with your entire wardrobe.

In general, however, the successful travel wardrobe is like any other good wardrobe: it is comfortable it is correct for the place and the occasion, it is becoming, it is in fashion without being tawdry.

The trick in traveling is in taking just enough for all your activities and changes of weather. Here are some tips from experienced travelers:

TAKE WHAT YOU NEED. It is more practical to pay for excess weight on an airplane or even to tote an extra bag than to have to rush out and buy a dress like one you left behind, because you tried too hard to "travel light."

You might take a reversible coat that is pale or bright colored on one side; dark on the other. This will serve a two-fold purpose.

A WOOL OR tweed suit in a becoming color, is at home anywhere in the world and at practically all times of the year. With a change of blouses and/or sweaters, you can greet almost any temperature in comfort.

A good black dress is the average woman's passport to the world of the well-dressed. It can alter its character by being strictly plain one day and lightened with a hat tomorrow. It can be dressed up with jewelry one night or be a sightseeing dress another day. Never underestimate the power and usefulness of your good black dress by thinking of it only as background.

BE CERTAIN you need everything you pack. Don't be an aimless packer. Don't fill your suitcase with clothes you know you don't like to wear.

PRINTS are good travelers. You can wash a print dress or suit out of your bag and put it right on. They don't look creased or "tired" even after a day of sight-seeing.

SEPARATES have a terrific talent for multiplying your travel wardrobe if you interchange the parts with taste and distinction. Your city combination can be a neat skirt with a tailored blouse, an attractive belt and cotton gloves.

For a trip to the country, switch to a bright decorated skirt and an open-necked short-sleeved blouse.

Don't, however, pile a suitcase with a lot of skirts and tops and expect a good fairy to turn them into a smart wardrobe. Consider whether the colors are right to gether, becoming to you or if there are too many different patterns.

Take stockings in a single box.

coming shade and by all means brand set off on a vacation with brand new shoes. Wear them for a week or two to avoid discomfort on your trip.

So wherever you are planning to go in the next two months, be it on a honeymoon, home from school, or a short trip to grandparents, take these traveling hints and suggestions to heart.

Representative Sherman P. Lloyd

Young Republicans to Hear...

BYU Favored As Part Of Lloyd Campaign Trail

Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd will speak at 1:00 p.m. in 288 JKD today.

Representative Lloyd served Utah as Republican floor leader of the State Senate for four years, plus two years as Senate President. He was a member of the Utah Legislative Council for four years and two years as its chair man.

Rep. Lloyd is a candidate for the U.S. Senate because he feels Brigham Young University Summer School is expected to draw some 300-400 new students as registration for its second session begins July 20.

Enrollment for the first term, June 15 to July 17, reached 5,943. Of these, 4,973 are daytime students and 370 are exclusively evening students. An additional 640 students are taking evening classes but are not counted in the total because they also are taking day-time classes.

Students may sign up for drop classes at the Registrar's Office, A-153 Abraham O. Smoot Administration and General Services Building, until July 23, according to Dr. Keith Oakes, director.

Summer School will end Aug. 21 when robe-decked graduates participate in the Summer Convocation of the 89th Commencement in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Among the many seminars and workshops scheduled for second session will be the Summer Music Clinic, July 27-Aug. 8; High School Publications Workshop, Aug. 10-14; and the Genealogy Clinic, Aug. 8-5.

Speakers at the remainder of the Summer School assemblies will include Judge Aldon Anderson of the Third District Court of Utah, July 21; Elder Alvin R. Dyer, assistant to the Council of the Twelve, July 23; Virgil Thomson, an international music critic, Aug. 4; J. Eliot Cameron, dean of students, Aug. 11.

Leona Gordon, soprano, will perform July 27 at 8:15 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium as the second section of the 26th Summer Music Festival gets underway. She will also perform Tuesday, July 28 at 10 a.m. in the Y Center Ballroom.

Clifton Matthews, pianist, will appear July 30 in the Joseph Smith Auditorium, and he will be followed by Robert McFerrin, baritone, on Aug. 12. Both performances are at 8:15 p.m. Mr. McFerrin will also star on the student assembly, Aug. 13, at 10 a.m. in the Y Center Ballroom.

Special student social functions include the annual Chicken Fry, July 31, at the stadium tennis courts; Legion Day, Aug. 3, summer formal dance, Aug. 15 in the Y Center Ballroom.

James Mason

Nixon will Help Republican Party

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon pledged Wednesday he will campaign across the country for the Republican ticket "just as Barry Goldwater worked for our ticket in 1960."

His vow, foreshadowing the tenor of the unity speech Nixon will deliver Thursday, was made at a closed-door session of the California delegation. All its 86 votes were firmly pledged to Goldwater.

In a later interview, Nixon indicated his antagonism to the John Birch Society is unchanged.

He has previously urged that Birchers either get out of the society or of the GOP. But he said Wednesday he agreed with the convention's refusal not to mention the society specifically in a denunciatory platform.

Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee and then a Californian, was defeated for governor in 1962 and moved to New York to lead the California delegates at the Fairmont Hotel that the primary in this state was a "key" election.

James Mason To Edit Music Publication

James A. Mason, member of the Brigham Young University music faculty, has been appointed editor of the Instrumentalist, one of the leading national music publications.

Mr. Mason will be on leave from the University to assume his new position and continue doctoral studies at Northwestern University. Both "The Instrumentalist" and Northwestern are located in Evanston, Ill.

Since graduating from Springfield High School in Utah, Mr. Mason served in the 8th Air Band in the United States, Japan and Korea. He received his B.A. and M.A. degrees at BYU, and has done some doctoral work at the University of Southern California.

Prior to joining the BYU music faculty, Mr. Mason taught music in New School District and at B.Y. High School. For the past three years he has edited the "Utah Music Education," the official publication of the Utah Music Educators' Association. Mr. Mason is the author of articles and studies in various publications.

This spring he was one of six U.S. college instructors elected to the National Music Education Research Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason and their two daughters will move to Evanston this month.

USSR Has New President

MOSCOW — Anastasia I. Mikoyan became President of the Soviet Union Wednesday.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, who had held the post since 1960, stepped aside to devote himself full-time to his duties as Premier. Nikita Khrushchev's deputy in the Secretariat of the Communist Party, the prime center of power in the Soviet Union.
